

PERMISSION TO INSTALL A SATELLITE DISH

- Satellite systems must be installed in a manner that is not unsightly and does not damage the home. Satellite dishes will only be placed in the backyard (within the area the resident mows).
- The roofs will not be penetrated in the backyard (satellite dishes will not be nailed into the roof). Holes cannot be made into the steel siding.
- Tree limbs cannot be cut in efforts to obtain a better signal.
- When installing the system, the vendor/installer will use existing cable wiring from the junction box at the residence and will not change the location. When a second parallel cable is required, it must be cosmetically acceptable and the existing entrance hole on the home will be used.
- No additional holes will be made in the interior or exterior surfaces of the home.
- The best option will be to have the dish mounted to a pole so it is not attached to the home in any way.
- The vendor, or the system owner, is responsible for removing the satellite system and restoring the grounds upon vacating the resident.
- The resident will be liable for the cost to remove the system.
